

Starter: Below are two different images of London. One is an abstraction, one isn't. Which is which, and what can you conclude from this about what the term "abstraction" means?

